

Top 10 Reasons to Have a Kappa Delta Pi, International Honor Society in Education, Chapter on Your Campus

1. Add prestige and visibility to your education program.
2. Enhance the role your institution plays in the recruitment and preparation of high-quality educators.
3. Support accreditation efforts.
4. Enable students to begin building their professional reputation.
5. Connect students within your institution through Kappa Delta Pi programs and activities.
6. Provide publishing opportunities for faculty members and students.
7. Keep students engaged with opportunities to develop skills in scholarship, leadership, and community service.
8. Increase professional development opportunities for college students and faculty members with increased access to nationally renowned educators, including National State Teachers of the Year and award-winning publications.
9. Expand resources available to education students through Kappa Delta Pi's award-winning journals, books, and other teacher-directed publications.
10. Recognize, acknowledge, support, and celebrate educators and the profession.