

It's Our World

Lessons for Peace and Reconciliation

One Conference. Many Reasons.

It's Our World: Lessons for Peace and Reconciliation

Saturday, November 6, 2010

8:00 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.

Shortridge Magnet High School for Law and Public Policy

3401 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis, IN

for educators, students, and organization representatives

The Committee on Teaching about the United Nations in collaboration with

Kappa Delta Pi, International Honor Society in Education presents this special, day-long conference for middle school through collegiate level students, educators, and organization representatives who want to integrate peace and conflict resolution in their classrooms, outreach activities, and lives.

Keynote Presenters:

Cora Weiss

President of the Hague Appeal for Peace

James Morris

Former head of the UN World Food Programme

Mariatu Kamara

Survivor of the Sierra Leone civil war

Some Workshops:

Mary Grabianowski

Model United Nations

Dr. Siobhan McEvoy-Levy

Child Soldiers and Youth Peacemakers

Sarah Powley

Anne Frank in Rwanda

George Srour

Building Tomorrow—Wanna Help?

Kelly Campbell

Uplifting Impoverished Communities

Kirsten Eamon-Shine

Learning Environments to Embrace

Come to It's Our World to:

- Explore how our experiences as educators, activists, students, and citizens perfectly place us to take responsibility for transforming the world community.
- Make a commitment to increasing empathy for one another and to recapturing ravaged environments.
- Take action in improving the quality of life for others, at a personal, local, and global level;
- Learn about peace and reconciliation from expressive art forms, such as film, literature and murals, and inspiring personal narratives.
- Be energized by programs and possibilities you can tap into to become a catalyst for transformation—starting where you are.

For more information, please visit www.ctaun.org or www.kdp.org/internationalinitiatives/unconference.php.

This program has been made possible through a matching grant from the Indiana Humanities Council in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Humanities.