PARTNERS FOR A BETTER FUTURE

“The role of today’s educator is to make the world a better place. We must teach like the world depends on us because, quite frankly, it does.”

– Dr. Connie Schaffer
Kappa Delta Pi member

KAPi
KAPPA DELTA PI

WHO ARE PARTNERS FOR A BETTER FUTURE?

Partners for a Better Future believe it is through education that we will create a better future for all learners.

We believe that educators are agents of change who have the power to inspire lifelong learning; to create a healthy, just, and peaceful world; and to instill in their students the skills and knowledge necessary to live a fulfilling life.

Through your partnership with Kappa Delta Pi and Teachers for a Better Future, you are a champion of the profession of teaching and are helping to place, retain, and recognize effective educators in all classrooms.

Who is Kappa Delta Pi?

Kappa Delta Pi advances quality education by inspiring teachers to prepare all learners for future challenges.

We encourage quality learning by giving educators the means to implement research-based strategies, continue professional growth, assume leadership, and become master teachers.

Kappa Delta Pi was founded in 1911 to foster excellence in education and promote fellowship among those dedicated to teaching. For more than a century, the Society has consistently grown, starting with one university-based chapter, to become the international organization it is today, with more than 600 active chapters and an initiated membership that exceeds 1.2 million!

Who are Teachers for a Better Future?

Teachers for a Better Future is a professional community of Kappa Delta Pi and a grassroots movement to change the future through learning.

Striving to create a healthy, just, and peaceful world, the community connects educators with like-minded colleagues who embrace all students—regardless of race, religion, disability, gender identity, country of origin, first language, and family structure—and provides them with trusted, quality resources as well as practical ideas. These educators realize and exercise their power to reach every single student, to inspire lifelong learning, and to instill in all students the skills and knowledge necessary to thrive.

DEDICATED EMAIL MARKETING BLAST

Your company is invited to distribute a dedicated email to our mailing list: a targeted population of our more than 150,000 active email addresses. This email blast can promote your event, webinar, product, or press release, though the content must be approved through Kappa Delta Pi. You are able to design and write your own email, and we will send your information and then provide you with any data—excluding the mailing file itself. With open and click-through rates as high as 44% and 16%, respectively, this is your chance to reach thousands of educators.

The cost for a dedicated blast is $0.10 per active email address.

CONVOCATION 2018 ADDITIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

Learning Lab Sponsor – $1,500

As one of the final conference activities, the Learning Lab will give Designers a unique opportunity to work individually and as part of a small group to complete multiple projects or activities that are transferable to the work they do in the classroom. Guided by trained facilitators, Designers will engage in implementing some of the new strategies and ideas acquired during the conference in authentic activities that will help enhance their effectiveness and professional growth as educators.

Chapter Leader Sponsor – $1,500

More than 500 chapter leaders will be in attendance at Convocation 2018. At five different, facilitated sessions, ranging from the Fundamentals of Chapter Leadership to Celebrating Our Chapter Counselors (luncheon), chapter leaders will share successes, challenges, ideas, and more. Additionally, chapter leaders who went above and beyond during the 2017–2018 academic year will be recognized for their outstanding contributions.

Lessons Learned Sponsor – $1,500

Experienced educators will share their years of wisdom and advice with younger professionals entering into the teaching profession.

Networking Luncheon Sponsor – $1,500

On Friday, November 2, lunch and space to connect will be provided for all 600+ registered attendees. Via this sponsorship, a team from your company will be invited to be present to connect with conference attendees, distribute materials, and even offer a quick presentation (if desired).

President’s Reception Sponsor – $1,500

The President’s Reception at Convocation 2018 is put on by Dr. Victoria Tusken, 2018–2020 Society President, and is a chance for KDP leadership to recognize and honor our most important members, donors, volunteers, and partners. At this invitation-only, uplifting event, with an attendance of approximately 75–100, hors d’oeuvres and drinks will be served.

Conference Tote Bag Sponsor – $1,500

One sponsor can promote its company by supplying a co-branded bag for approximately 600 conference attendees.

Wi-Fi Sponsor – $1,500

Do you know anyone who attends conferences or stays at hotels and doesn’t search for the free Wi-Fi? Promote your company by sponsoring the Wi-Fi at Convocation 2018! The Wi-Fi login will be set to your name or other mutually agreed-upon login, and all signage and materials will include your company logo with the language, “Wi-Fi powered by [insert company’s name here].”

Mobile Application Sponsor – $1,500

One organization can market its company by sponsoring our official conference mobile application that boasts an 80% adoption rate. The sponsor logo will be prominently displayed throughout the application—including on the splash screen.

Program Advertising – $500

Run a quarter-page, full-color advertisement in the official Convocation 2018 printed program or on our mobile application. Space is limited, so contact KDP today to reserve your space!

Patron Sponsor - $500

Not able to be in attendance with an exhibit booth to promote your programs, products, or services, but still want to support the innovative conference for new and veteran educators? Consider this opportunity, which provides your company or organization with brand visibility on our conference website as well as inside our mobile application.

NEW TEACHER HANDBOOK

KDP routinely surveys members as a means to stay informed of their professional needs and the organization’s successes and opportunities in providing services to the membership.

During the fall 2018 semester, a survey revealed that various segments of KDP constituents (e.g., undergraduate students, practicing teachers and administrators, and higher education faculty—receiving different, but aligned, surveys) believe strongly that a printed handbook received by new graduates would promote KDP’s goal of curbing teacher turnover, especially in high-poverty urban and rural schools.

Currently, a group of authors is working to develop the New Teacher Handbook, Launch Your Practice: A Month-by-Month Guide, to be ready by spring 2019 and projected to be on nearly 10,000 new teachers’ desks during the 2019–2020 school year.

Based on survey data* regarding the topics most timely and relevant for teachers preparing to enter the profession, below are the identified strands for which we are developing, compiling, and presenting content:

- Classroom Management
- Planning and Curriculum
- Differentiated Instruction

- Relationship Building/School Culture
- Parent/Community Relations and Communications
- Culturally Responsive Instruction
- English Language Learners
- Social-Emotional Learning
- Impact of Poverty/Trauma-Informed Instruction
- Navigating Evaluation
- Work-Life Balance

Sponsorship Opportunities

Market your company or program via a full-color advertisement in this newest KDP publication, which will be distributed to nearly 10,000 new teachers prior to the start of the 2019–2020 school year.

- Full Page – $2,500
- 1/2 Page – $1,500
- 1/3 Page – $1,250
- 1/4 Page – $1,000

Of the anticipated challenges that undergraduates predicted as they begin teaching in the classroom, classroom management (56%) is the primary concern. Following—closely behind are maintaining a work-life balance (53%), working with parents (46%), and time management (44%). Other responses include effectively teaching English language learners (37%), having a lack of support (31%), using culturally responsive instruction (27%), and effectively using student data (25%). The most common answers written in the “other” category included working with students with special needs, planning effective lessons, salary concerns, and meeting standards and other requirements.*

When university faculty members were asked about the areas in which teacher candidates could benefit from additional training during their preparation, the response most often selected was classroom management (65%), followed by culturally responsive instruction (57%). Approximately 55% selected the categories of the impact of poverty, differentiated instruction, and meeting students’ social and emotional needs. More than 47% chose the area of using data, and the remainder of the categories included communicating with parents (45%), teaching English language learners (45%), technology (37%), and digital citizenship (23%). Eleven percent selected “other,” and some of those responses included the areas of teaching students with special education needs, professionalism, relationships with colleagues and administrators, and teaching students who have suffered from traumatic situations.

Survey responders were asked to check all the applicable areas in which they would have liked additional training. The answers selected most often were classroom management (47%) and differentiated instruction (44%). Other frequently checked items, in order of frequency, included meeting students’ social/emotional needs, using data, communicating with parents, the impact of poverty, technology, English language learners, and culturally responsive instruction. Answers commonly given in the “other” category included understanding standards, curriculum development, project-based teaching, extreme behavior issues with special education students, writing Individualized Education Programs, working with administrators, and writing lesson plans.

NEW TEACHER ADVOCATE ADVERTISING

The New Teacher Advocate's mission is to serve as a partner for success to teacher education students and new educators by informing, supporting, and inspiring them through relevant content and best-practice strategies that can be readily applied to classroom instruction. This quarterly publication circulates to more than 40,000 preservice educators, new teachers, and professors of education. Additionally, school districts subscribe to the New Teacher Advocate for use in their new teacher orientation programs.

PROGRAM FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Celebration of Teaching

Celebration of Teaching is Kappa Delta Pi's newest signature service initiative. This new program, successfully piloted in the 2017–2018 academic year, is designed to support current teachers, inspire future teachers, and recognize the profound impact of education on our society.

Nearly every person can point to an exceptional teacher who played a critical role in his or her life. Sadly, many of these educators find themselves leaving the classroom long before retirement. In fact, a staggering 41% of teachers will leave the profession within the first 5 years.

Kappa Delta Pi is committed to curbing this trend and supporting young professionals as they enter the classroom and beyond.

Chapter project ideas include: adopting a classroom, encouraging high school students to volunteer at an elementary school in their district, compiling letters written by students honoring their teacher, funding a teacher's lounge renovation, developing a multicultural program that advocates for the importance of teachers of color in the classroom, inviting local middle and high school students to campus to participate in a "Teacher Career Day," collaborating with the local teachers' union to address specific needs within the community, and participating in local town halls and other civic engagements to advocate for the profession.

Sponsorship of the entire Celebration of Teaching program for one academic year: $12,000.

KDP Webinars

Our popular educational webinars continue to grow, with exceptional presenters, relevant topics, and multichannel accessibility for educators. Webinar topics are developed to appeal to all levels of educators and sometimes offer CEUs—depending on states' requirements. Average attendance is 200 for each webinar, with significant growth projected for 2018–2019.

Sponsorship of all webinars for one academic year (approximately 30 webinars): $7,500

Additional sponsorship levels begin at $250.

Classroom Teacher Grants

KDP believes that a teacher's effectiveness has the greatest impact on students' achievement and learning. As part of our efforts to provide members with tools to become more effective educators, Kappa Delta Pi offers Classroom Teacher Grants. These grants provide members who are practicing teachers with funds to support specific programs or classroom supplies. Each fall, grants of $150 each are available to practicing Pre-K–12 educators. Partners are needed to grow the impact of this program by increasing the number of grant awards offered.

Scholarships

Scholarships are made possible through generous donations to support the future of education. All recipients maintain a high grade-point average, participate in KDP programming, receive letters of recommendation in support of their achievements and potential, and write an essay as part of their application. Each scholarship can have its own set of criteria set by you. Endowments start at $25,000.
