

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword	xi
David T. Hansen

Introduction	1
Rick Breault and Donna Adair Breault

Part I: Active Learning

Active Learning: A Growth Experience	9
Rick Breault

One	Active Learning as Reflective Experience	12
	William H. Schubert
Two	'Impulsive Expression': Desirable or Dangerous?	16
	Robert H. Anderson
Three	Work in School	18
	Donna Adair Breault
Four	Becoming a Student of Teaching	20
	Robert V. Bullough, Jr.
Five	Disdain for the 'Pouring in' Process	23
	Frank E. Marsh
Six	Listening for the Gentle Whisper	26
	Rick Breault
Seven	Providing Environments Conducive to Proper Digestion	28
	Lisa Goeken-Galliart

Part II: The Educative Experience

An Educative Experience? A Lesson in Humility for a Second-Grade Teacher	33
Donna Adair Breault

Eight	The Reconstruction of Experience	35
	Edmund C. Short
Nine	The Relations of One Great Common World	38
	Gary Weilbacher

Ten	Learning In and Out of School: Bridging the Cultural Gap 40 Ron W. Wilhelm
Eleven	The Child and the Curriculum: Two Limits That Define a Single Process 42 William A. Reid
Twelve	Relevance of the Curriculum 46 Marcella Kysilka
Thirteen	Two Approaches to Planning 48 William Van Til
Fourteen	What Imposed Standards Do to the Child 51 M. Frances Klein
Fifteen	How Mechanization Leads to Contempt for the Teaching and Learning Process 53 Louise Anderson Allen
Sixteen	The Teacher-Artist 55 George Willis
Seventeen	Effort: The Outgrowth of Individual Interest 57 Robert C. Morris
Eighteen	Growth: The Consummate Open-Ended Aspiration 59 Paul Shaker

Part III: Critical Thinking

	The 'Varied and Unusual' Abuses of Critical Thinking 65 Donna Adair Breault
Nineteen	Educator's Genuine Freedom 67 James G. Henderson
Twenty	A Spectator's Version of Knowledge 70 Deron Boyles
Twenty-One	Transcending False Dichotomies: The Dynamics of Doubt and Certainty 73 Tom Kelly
Twenty-Two	Turning Sunlight into Children 76 Marilyn Doerr
Twenty-Three	Reflecting on the Mentoring Relationship 79 Shelli L. Nafziger

Twenty-Four	Making Informed Judgments	82
	Dan Marshall
Twenty-Five	Unexamined Presumptions	85
	George W. Noblit

IV: Inquiry and Education

Inquiry and Education: A Way of Seeing the World		91
Donna Adair Breault
Twenty-Six	The Power of an Ideal	93
	Jim Garrison
Twenty-Seven	Imagination of Ideal Ends	95
	Craig A. Cunningham
Twenty-Eight	Dogma, Democracy, and Education	100
	William G. Wraga
Twenty-Nine	What to Do? That All Depends	102
	Thomas S. Poetter
Thirty	The Teacher as Theorist and Lover	105
	Greg Seals
Thirty-One	The Role of Intelligence in the Creation of Art	106
	Elliot W. Eisner
Thirty-Two	Autonomous Education: Free to Determine Its Own Ends	108
	Larry A. Hickman

Part V: Democratic Citizenship

Preparing Children for Democratic Citizenship		113
Rick Breault
Thirty-Three	Teaching Democracy for Life	115
	John M. Novak
Thirty-Four	John Dewey and the American Creed	117
	Daniel Tanner
Thirty-Five	Realizing a Common Good	120
	Randy Hewitt
Thirty-Six	Teacher as Shaper of Social Process	123
	Louise M. Berman

Thirty-Seven	Foundations of Deweyan Democracy: Human Nature, Intelligence, and Cooperative Inquiry	126
	Stephen M. Fishman
Thirty-Eight	John Dewey and the Import of a Curriculum Devoted to Student Experience	128
	Chara Haeussler Bohan
Thirty-Nine	The Best and Wisest Parent	130
	David J. Flinders
Forty	The Value of Communication in a Classroom Community	133
	Barbara J. Thayer-Bacon
Forty-One	The Societal Purpose of Education	135
	Jesse Goodman
Forty-Two	Teaching Our Legislators a Big Idea in 52 Words or Less	140
	Peter S. Hlebowitsh
Forty-Three	Collecting and Preserving the Educational Present	143
	Craig Kridel
Forty-Four	Education for a Changing World	147
	William Ayers
Editors and Contributors		153