Dr. Tabitha Dell’Angelo
Associate Academic Editor
The Educational Forum

Associate Professor
Coordinator, Urban Education Master’s Program
School of Education, The College of New Jersey
dellange@tcnj.edu

Dr. Tabitha Dell’Angelo is an Associate Professor and Coordinator of the Urban Education Master’s Program at The College of New Jersey. Her research interests include social justice in education, cultural identity development, stress tolerance, and coping strategies for teachers. She is interested in using improvisational acting techniques to support teacher development and using arts-based approaches in data analysis and presentation. She is a licensed Yoga4Classrooms instructor and uses yoga with children to help support self-regulation and learning readiness.

Dr. Dell’Angelo holds a Ph.D. in Interdisciplinary Studies in Human Development from the University of Pennsylvania and teaches courses in child and adolescent development, urban education, cultural foundations, and teacher research.