Hey there student-teacher,

First, let me congratulate you on reaching this education major milestone. You've studied the materials, completed projects, read the textbooks, passed the tests, and now you are ready to apply what you've learned over the past few years during student teaching.

Thank you for downloading this digital editable resource. You can use the templates to customize and create a Meet the Student Teacher Letter that knocks your teacher socks off.

This resource will walk you through:

- Why you need to write a meet the student teacher letter.
- Who to write the student teacher letter for (it's more than students).
- What to include in your student teacher letter
- Prompts for you to think through and reflect upon the content in your letter.
- 5 Meet the student teacher letter templates. Three versions of the template have a background or no background option. Making it easier for you to print on a student teacher budget. These templates offer you a lot of choices when it comes to crafting your student teacher letter.

Why do I need to write a Meet the Student Teacher Letter?

It is so important to make a connection with students and their families, even if you are the student teacher. As a student teacher, you play an important role in a child's education even if it is only for seven weeks.

Who do I write it for?

I recommend writing your student teacher letter for three different audiences. The content in the letter can be the same but worded differently to fit the appropriate audience.

- Cooperating teacher and principal - Create a Meet the Student Teacher Letter and send it to your cooperating teacher to introduce yourself as the professional educator that you are.
- Families of the students- Introduce yourself to the families of the students you are serving. Don't send this letter without cooperating teacher approval first. This letter can be sent home printed, or digitally through a remind app, Google classroom, or email from your cooperating teacher.
- Students - This is the audience you probably already knew about, right? You gotta introduce yourself to your students.

What to include in your meet the student teacher letter

- Teacher-friendly photo: What I mean is this is a fun yet a professional photo of you, and just you! This is not a glamour shot or a pic of you with a group of friends. Just a photo of you doing what you do – teach, learn, grow.
- Teaching story: Share the reason why you teach. Why do you want to impact children? Why do you want to be an educator of excellence? Who inspired you to be a teacher?
- Background: Think of this section as information about you such as family, where you are from, what you are studying, what you plan to do after graduation, do you have a specialization area or minor?
- Fun facts or favorites: food, movie, restaurant, ice cream flavor, game, sport, etc. You get the idea, fun facts about you, or hidden talents. If you play the ukulele you may want to put it here.
- Contact information: You may want to put a link to your digital portfolio. You may also want to put something like, "To contact me please contact (insert name of mentor teacher here)".
- Sign it: End it with a signature and how you want to be addressed. Example. Miss Beesley or Mr. Shrute.
